

American Rose Society 2016 Guide to U.S. Gardens

This 2016 Garden Guide, the 11th edition of the annual feature, contains all gardens that subscribe to the Reciprocal Admissions Program (RAP) — indicated with an asterisk * — and brief entries for many significant rose gardens, plus a limited number of nursery gardens that are open to the public. RAP gardens are listed because, in most cases, all you need do is show your ARS membership card to gain free or reduced-cost admission. “Free w/ ARS card” is your ticket to enjoying these gardens! However, family members will, as a general rule, need to pay unless they have joined ARS as associate members ($13) or as youth members ($10) and, therefore, have their own membership card. When you are planning excursions, phone ahead to confirm card benefits, or check the referenced garden’s website for details about hours, dates, etc. Estate garden card privileges may be restricted in particular. Please be sure to send correction and suggestions for next year.

The number of RAP gardens has increased by 17 since last year with 306 gardens offering either free admission and/or other benefits to those holding ARS membership cards. Your ARS membership card remains your ticket to many of America’s botanical wonderlands!

A word on notation with RAP gardens. FA indicates Free Admission; FP means Free Parking. Ninety-mile exclusion enforced means your card — most likely (always call to check) — cannot be used for benefits if you live within a 90 mile radius of the garden. If a garden has a gift shop, always ask if discounts are available with your card. With nursery gardens always call ahead to arrange an appointment.

The replacement program for AARS, called AGRS™ (American Garden Rose Selections™), based on regionality, is in progress in 12 botanical gardens nationwide. Be sure to visit AGRS Test Gardens in your area.

With my membership card and this guide in hand, I plan to visit American rose gardens this summer and fall — and trust that you will do so, too.
