

AMERICAN ROSE SOCIETY

Nursery Guide

THIS IS THE 11TH ANNUAL INSTALLMENT of the Nursery Guide, which first appeared in American Rose in 2006. The 2016 Nursery Guide contains the same number of nurseries as the 2015 Guide (with the closing of one nursery but the opening of another). Pickering Nurseries retail rose operations continue to be suspended, as we reported last year. Another large Canadian rose nursery, Hortico, has reduced its list to about 500 cultivars and limited its retail orders. But Hortico will still take mail orders—and ship to the US— as indicated. Trends we have noted over the past year: nursery websites have become ever more elaborate and eye-catching. Lists, however, on the whole have become shorter.

SOME BASICS: The guide is modeled on the popular “Art in America Annual Guide to Galleries”, which is to say we editors try to include all bonafide U.S. rose nurseries in the listing—and selected Canadian nurseries as well—excluding local garden centers for the most part. Nurseries that advertise in American Rose are recognized by having their listing in boldface. Nurseries that offer discounts to ARS members through the members benefit program are also recognized by having their names appear in capital letters. The listing itself is free to all rose nurseries and part of ARS service to both the rose nurseries and our members.
