

2021 American Rose Society NURSERY GUIDE

Prepared by Gene Waering

THIS IS THE 15TH INSTALLMENT of the ARS Nursery Guide, which first appeared in American Rose in 2006. The last edition was issued two years ago, in 2019. Due to special circumstances, no 2020 edition was published. Since 2019, Chamblee's Roses, which had temporarily closed, reopened and this last year Sam Kedem Nursery closed. As we go to press, it is unclear whether Kedem's rose operations will continue with a new nursery serving Minnesota and the Far North. Two other nurseries which should have appeared in previous editions of Nursery Guide have been added this year: Freedom Gardens and White Flower Farm.

Because of COVID-19, at this time we suggest readers ALWAYS PHONE AHEAD to nurseries before planning visits. Sources listed herein do not exhaust the rich variety of roses being sold in the U.S. Rose auctions and plant sales by heritage rose gardens and rose groups make other, rare varieties obtainable to those who seek them out. Sister associations such as Heritage Roses Group (theheritagerosesgroup.org), which publishes a quarterly newsletter, offer more choices. On the Internet, HMF (helpmefind.com/roses) is a conduit to a wealth of information about the availability of still more rose varieties. Peter Schneider's (and the late Beverly Dobson's) almost 300-page Combined Rose List (combinedroselist.com) — published in the spring annually — remains the essential guide to more than 16,000 rose varieties in commerce in the U.S. and worldwide. In addition, Schneider's expert comments about nurseries and cultivars, as well as topics such as rose importation regulations, serve to enrich readers' rose experiences time and time again. This editor unfailingly orders the Combined Rose List every year.

SOME BASICS: The Nursery Guide is derived from the popular Art in America Guide to Galleries format, which is to say we try to include ALL bonafide U.S. rose nurseries in the listing — and selected Canadian nurseries as well that ship to the U.S. — but exclude local garden centers, wholesale nurseries, and small, regional "pick up" nurseries for which roses are not a feature. Nurseries that advertise in American Rose are recognized by having their listing in boldface. NURSERIES EXTENDING SPECIAL DISCOUNTS TO ARS MEMBERS ARE RECOGNIZED BY HAVING NAMES APPEAR IN CAPITAL LETTERS. The listing itself — for all nurseries — is free and part of ARS' service to both independent rose nurseries and our members.

To be included in next year's Nursery Guide, please email Beth Smiley at beth@rose.org.
